SIOUX CITY, Ia.—This is a city in which the viewpoint of three neighboring states, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Iowa, tend to converge, and the amount of lawlessness and sentiment noticeable is an outstanding characteristic.

It may be because in this region the agricultural depression has been greatest, or it may be because it was because land speculation and other economic errors found a more victimized field elsewhere. In any case, however, there is a distinct anti-administration tone to the situation and President Coolidge is obviously on the defensive.

The result of the balloting in these states should be examined after election day for reasons other than those given in the following:

REPUBLICAN SLUSH FUND IS CHARGED BY LA FOLLETTE

MOVE TO BUY VICTORY FOR COOLIDGE IS HIS CLAIM.

DEMANDS INQUIRY

Activity by Financiers Is Latest Charge; Wants Senate to Act.

LA FOLLETTE, Ia.—C. E. Stump, secretary to President Coolidge, branded as "pure fabrication" today the statement by Senator La Follette, that he would have charge of a committee to inquire into the responsibilities of the party.

"I know nothing about the republican national committee's finances," said Mr. Stump, "and I have had no connection, direct or indirect, with the handling of the financial moneys, neither will I have any in the future."

"It has not been suggested to me that I leave Washington in the interest of President Coolidge's candidacy, and I have no intention of leaving."

CHICAGO HOST TO PRINCE ON MONDAY, PLAN

Chelmsford—The Prince of Wales will arrive at 8 a.m. Monday over the Northwestern railroad, for his visit of a day in which he will view Chicago's stockyards and points of civic pride, according to Louis F. Swift, his host here.

He will be met by Mr. Swift and one or two personal friends and immediately taken to the stockyards and packing plants, in which he has expressed great interest.

Later he will be shown the University of Chicago, the new stadium in Grant Park, the business section, and the train of the business section.

BLOOD TRANSFUSION FOR JAKE DAUBERT

Chelmsford—A blood transfusion operation was performed on Jacob Daubert, first baseman of the Cincinnati Nationals, in an effort to save his life at the Good Samaritan hospital here today. Dr. Harry H. Burns wanted to bolster up Daubert's resisting powers following the operation for appendicitis.

3 KILLED AS MOSLEMS AND HINDUS FIGHT

LET ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Alahabad, British India.—Three persons were killed and a score injured in a clash between Hindus and Moslems here last night. Troops were called to assist the police. The city now is quiet.

5,000 CATTLE SLAUGHTERED

LET ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Houston, Tex.—Slaughter of more than 5,000 cattle, in addition to those already killed in Harris county because of the foot and mouth disease, was reported today. The disease has been spreading rapidly in a radius of about 20 miles of the original infected area and are said to have been grazing with and drinking from the same watering places as the diseased cattle. While they have not shown signs of developing the disease, it is feared they may do so and the slaughter was ordered to prevent a possible spread of the infection.

Senator Borah of Idaho declared in a speech he will remain in the republican party and fight for progressive principles.

17 HERDS HONORED RECORD PEA CROP FOR HIGH RECORDS FOR WISCONSIN

Diplomas Distributed for C. T. A. Records Averaging More Than 300 Lbs.

The National Dairy association through its secretary, W. E. Skinner, issued 17 diplomas to dairymen in Rock county for having herds which produced over 300 pounds of butterfat last year.

Three hundred pounds of butterfat produced by each of us high as 26 cows in some record. Calvin Cranford in the Milton-Bedington association increased production is attributed to increased herbage and a larger yield per acre, the report states.

Wisconsin now produces 47 per cent of the nation's canning peas, according to Statistician Nyhus, who did not put in their names with the farmers who had herds producing over 300 pounds. The 17 farmers receiving the diplomas on their butterfat test for their herds are as follows: Orlin Cranford, Ivan Rice, D. H. Butler, A. M. McMillen, Taylor Bros., F. A. North, G. S. Rice, E. E. Dally, Harry Brounstein, Wolf and Goiz, W. J. Ward and Sons, D. J. Oeffeler and Son, Wisconsin School of Agriculture, C. I. Gilbertson, and Melvin Cooper.

The farmers in the Beloit Cow Testing association who are eligible to the diploma are as follows:

Tevs Bros., Rockford and Katterhenry; Charles Nye, Port Schuyler; W. J. Douglass, and Fred Elendahl.

MORRISON WILL SPEAK AT ELKHORN DAIRY MEETING

Prof. F. W. Morrison of the college of agriculture, one of the best authorities on the feeding of farm animals in America, will discuss the feeding problem at a meeting to be held at the Beloit Elk horn court house at 8 p.m. Oct. 21.

Pictures taken from the records secured from 25 Walworth county farms that are members of the federal cost accounting route show that the income from the dairy herd represents more than 50 per cent of farm income. This shows how important the dairy enterprise is to the farmers of Walworth county.

The records further show that it costs from $81.17 to $163.83 to keep a milking cow for one year. Of this amount, the feed cost ranged from $41.61 to $88.75. From these figures one can readily realize the importance of the feeding problem. In feeding an average herd of cattle for a year, there is an opportunity of losing or saving amounts running into the hundreds of dollars.

Prof. Morrison is one of the best known feeds and feeding experts in the country. He is joint author with former Dean W. A. Henry of the well known book on "Feeds and Feeding."

Prof. Morrison wants to make his meeting of all interested in the feeding of the farm animal as possible and wishes that you and he hopes the farmers will send in practical feeding questions and problems so that he can discuss and answer them at the meeting Oct. 21. These questions may be mailed to Lippert St. Elkhorn, Wis. and he will see that they get Prof. Morrison's names next to be attached to the questions. If the men do not care to sign their names,

VITAL MATTERS ON WALTON PROGRAM

Horicon, Koshkonong and Winnebago Problems to Be Discussed.

Three of the biggest matters confronting the sportsmen of Wisconsin will be brought up at the second annual convention of the Izaak Walton League of America when it meets in Janesville on Oct. 16. These are the Winnebago bottoms restoration, the restoration of Horicon lake and the restoration of Lake Koshkonong and the Rock river valley.

The Winnebago bottoms project, which has been passed by congress and signed by the president, making that large tract of land on the Mississippi a national game refuge is not finished. It so happens that the legislatures of both Wisconsin and Minnesota must concur in this before the project can be started. Further, the law sets a stated sum of $5 in here to be paid for the purchase of the land and the sportsmen of the state are worried about so low a figure and it may be necessary to ask for an increase in that sum. Mr. Walcott, an authority on the situation, will speak at the convention on the conditions.

Horicon Mutter Up.

Louis Rudke, prime worker in the movement to restore Horicon lake, who is also treasurer of the state Izaak Walton League, is in the position. Here is a place that was noted far and wide for its marvelous duck hunting and feeding grounds and as an excellent place for game fishing. The drainage engineer, so it is said, came along and with his dredges spoiled all and so the water was turned into the tillable and productive farm land that was promised.

While the Rock river situation may be in a way linked with the Horicon problem because the Horicon marsh is at the headwaters of Rock river, yet there is an important difference. Here, the Rock river situation, it is pointed out, with the Lake Koshkonong and Rock river valley plans. This problem has already been studied by the Walton chapters of Janesville, Beloit, Edgerton, Jefferson, Port Atkinson, Watertown, Madison, Milwaukee, all of which have combined in the Rock river valley presidents' council. Here, too, Lake Koshkonong was noted for its canvas back and was ranked second only to Chesapeake Bay for this sport. Such famous men as General Sheridan hunted this beautiful, the hunting ground of Blackhawk and the Indians, in the early days of the white man.

Carp Spill Lake.

But carp and other rough fish have gotten into the waters, the sportsmen say, and have by rooting in the mud bottom, ruined the lake's character. The lake killed natural vegetation that was the breeding place of game fish and the feeding ground for birds.

E. L. Spaulding, Janesville, will tell how carp sealing was started and how many millions of dollars were taken 4,500,000 pounds of fish from the waters and sold them for $52,000, of which the state got $5,000. The fish are sold in Milwaukee, Chicago, New York and Philadelphia to foreign populations.

Experts have stated that if more of them are eliminated, game fish may be restored and wild vegetation grow again.

EPISCOPAL SESSION IN MADISON, OCT. 16.

The Annual Session of the Diocese of Madison—A conference on the Episcopalian church in Wisconsin will be held in the parish house of Grace church, here, Oct. 16. Members of the clergy and vestries of all churches of the diocese of Milwaukee have been invited to attend. The principal speaker will be Louis P. Lauter, president of the national council of the church, and the Rev. George Clegg Stewart, D. D., Lauter's slides showing the church's mission at home and abroad will be shown. ## Police Blame Beauty for Battle Between Accused Rum Runners

Chicago police say that Mrs. Agnes Tarr was the cause of the gun battle between her husband, James, and Harry J. Cullinan, whom they declare are rum ring leaders. Cullinan was noted far and wide for its marvelous duck hunting and feeding grounds and as an excellent place for game fishing. The drainage engineer, so it is said, came along and with his dredges spoiled all and so the water was turned into the tillable and productive farm land that was promised.

"ALL OR NONE" IS Y DRIVE POLICY

Subscriptions Will Be Payable in Installments Committee Decides.

Subscriptions to the Y. M. C. A. new building fund of $275,000 will be payable in five installments, six months apart, beginning with Dec. 1, 1924, thus covering a period of little more than two years. This decision was arrived at yesterday afternoon in a meeting of the campaign executive committee.

It was also decided that subscriptions to the fund would only be binding upon condition that $275,000 be subscribed prior to the date of the first payment becoming due on December 1st this year. This "all or none" feature was regarded as only just to those who subscribed upon the basis of $275,000 as it gives assurance that the entire fund is to be provided thus preventing an indebtedness on the building upon completion of the first and necessitating eventually a second appeal. This condition also makes possible a maximum of pressure to obtain the desired amount during the seven days assigned to the intensive campaign, Oct. 21-28.

Optimism Expressed.

Optimism as to the outcome of the campaign was expressed in view of the type of organization being developed and the systematic methods being employed in the development of the preparatory work. E. O. Kehler, executive chairman of the campaign, who presided at the meeting, referred to the personnel of the executive committee as in itself an insurance of the successful completion of the building enterprise and stated that the citizens had confidence in the present management of the association. "We are holding up an organization, organization for the accomplishment of a big and worthy task," said Mr. Holt, "and with the prestige established during the administration of Joe Stelman as general secretary we feel we can put this job over in approved fashion."

The first public activities of the campaign will be a "Young Men's Day" in the churches of the city on Sunday, October 19, when visiting representatives of the Y. M. C. A. will occupy the various pulpits. There will be no financial solicitation in connection with the services in the churches but the Y. M. C. A. leaders will bring educational and inspirational messages concerning the modern work and results of the association movement.

Rotary Club Resolutions.

At the noonday luncheon of the Rotary club Tuesday the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Young Men's Christian Association is one of the agencies which concerns itself in the advancement of every cause for the uplift of the community and the character building of our young men and boys, and

Whereas, the efficiency of this worthy institution in Janesville is handicapped because of an inadequate building which is no longer modern and in which it is obliged to operate, and,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Rotary club of Janesville heartily endorse and encourage its building committee proposed for October 21-28 to raise sufficient funds to erect a new and up-to-date building.

STOUGHTON WILL BOOST HOSPITAL

Purchase for $11,900 Authorized by Council; Old Building Used.

Stoughton — Continuation of the Stoughton Surgical hospital, privately conducted for many years by Dr. M. Iverson, under municipal ownership was assured when the city council Tuesday evening authorized its purchase for $11,900 and appropriated $8,000 for repairs and upkeep.

No new building will be erected for the present the council members holding that bond issue of $55,000 to cover its cost would place too large a burden upon the taxpayers, under present conditions.

Purchase of $10,000.

Buhrance of the hospital at this time was made possible through the gift of $10,300 by Andrew Nelson, Madison, formerly of Cambridge, under an agreement that he will be permitted to remain in the institution during the remainder of his life.

Whereas, the efficiency of this worthy institution in Janesville is handicapped because of an inadequate building which is no longer modern and in which it is obliged to operate, and,

Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Rotary club of Janesville heartily endorse and encourage its building committee proposed for October 21-28 to raise sufficient funds to erect a new and up-to-date building.

The association covers all expenses under the Rock county system of pooling premiums. There is a sufficient balance for future agriculture development work and the exhibiting of a county Milk Shorthorn herd at the Chicago International Livestock show, Nov. 29 to Dec. 6.

"It is the greatest showing made by the county," said the president, "and has been a success." declared H. C. Hommeling, secretary of the Farm Bureau.

In recognition of the fire prevention week a fire drill was held Tuesday afternoon in the graded schools. One minute and ten seconds after the alarm was turned in all pupils were out of both buildings, the fire department, as the last pupils were older. Only the fire chief and driver knew that the alarm was for the drill work.

The four carloads of dairy cattle sent out by Rock county this year under the management of Jack C. Nishet were exhibited at 10 fairs and the National Dairy show, winning 123 championships, 322 blue ribbons for first place and 159 second and third in approximately $1,000 in premiums. At the business meeting, plans for the winter's work were made and among other things, it was voted to give $5 to the Salvation Army. The auditing committee appointed Miss M. A. Holt to take care of the accounts made by Mrs. Jerome Howland, treasurer. Despite the unusual heavy competition due to Wisconsin having the national this year and a revived interest in purebred cattle, the show herd made a better showing than last year.

The Progressive Study club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Hall in the Hall cottage on Rock street. A progressive demonstration presented by the Parent-Teacher association, even though the city attorney rules it is legal.

At the business meeting, plans for the winter's work were made and among other things, it was voted to give $5 to the Salvation Army. The auditing committee appointed Miss M. A. Holt to take care of the accounts made by Mrs. Jerome Howland, treasurer. Despite the unusual heavy competition due to Wisconsin having the national this year and a revived interest in purebred cattle, the show herd made a better showing than last year.

All breeders who consigned stock to the county exhibit should be given the pleasure of representing the same in the insurance booster fund, which will not be needed, representative farmers and the Mississippi tourists will attend, J. A. Craig will preside and one of the main speeches will be given by A. J. Clever, Fort Atkinson, dairy magazine editor. Governor Henry Whitheld, Mississippi, will be one of the guests.

The Resignation of Mr. Jensen

In a measure the resignation of President Jensen from the council in his own affair but a wider view of it should be taken. He has been representative in the council body, to a large extent, of the many reasons why the city adopted the city manager form of government. He has been a good business head of the council. Successful in his own affairs, coming up here in Janesville from small beginnings and by his energy and effort building up a great and successful operating company, he has thrown the same genius and energy into the service of his city.

The situation now is no different from what it was three months ago. The contract and record of the paving program have been available for all to see. There has been no hidden mystery and nothing covered up. The story in circulation is that the resignation was demanded and the alternative was a suit to be filed against the city in case he did not resign, is absurd since the reason for the suit after resignation will be the same as before resigning. The city has the splendid paving, the contractor is under bond to do and finish the job and there is no shade or shadow of anything wrong about it. Legally there may be a technicality and if the interests which have so much to say about the matter feel that they are so armed, why not proceed with the suits? It might be stronger—that threat—if it were not a fact that the interests which fought the city manager plan with bitterness and tenacity from the beginning, were not so conspicuous at the present time in this case.

President Jensen made the city an open proposition for material for the streets of Janesville to be supplied to the contractor. It made it, not as a councilman, but as the head of a mineral aggregate company. It was published at the time in black faced type on the front page. It was not met by any other company. The proposal was open for others to come in. If there had been great profit it is quite likely there would have been other bidders. It saved the property owners of Janesville thousand of dollars. It made the paving program for the summer a possibility. If any man can ride over the streets of Janesville now paved and say it is not a good thing and a great asset to the city, he certainly has small appreciation of either beauty or utility.

What motives prompt the action now? What have frontage owners to do with it? So far as can be learned, nothing at all. How far the proponents of a different style of paving enter the game here? The question is whether the city shall be surrendered to the element which was thrown out by the voters in 1922, overwhelmingly defeated in 1923 and again in 1924 elections. In a year accomplishments have been many. No money has been borrowed. Improvements long waiting have been made. A storm sewer system is in at a saving of $50,000. There has been no diminution of administrative efficiency.

Mr. Jensen may have resigned but his record is one of accomplishment and service to the people of Janesville, given unstintingly without recourse. It is no personal sacrifice for him to resign. He will have more time for his private business and remain without criticism, but the loss is to the city of Janesville when a man with his business talents fails to serve longer. The people lose and not Mr. Jensen.

One thing is worth while, the political prognostications do not have to be read after election.

Ramsay MacDonald Defiant

Premier Ramsay MacDonald was defiant in his speech to the labor conference which will have something to say to him as to future policies. Just now the premier and his government, which is a minority in the House of Commons, Liberals and Conservatives together outnumbering the Laborites, are facing a number of serious problems most likely to throw the questions into an election.

The Soviet treaty, by which the government guarantees the loan to the Russian government, has removed the possibility of support from the Conservatives. The failure of the government to solve the question of unemployment and the more irritating demands of the communist element in the Labor party is still more serious. That is revolution within the ranks of MacDonald's following itself. He was elected by this radical vote and now in his address has given evidence that his term so far as premier has hardened his attitude toward the communist whom he despises. But in spite of platitude about it he gave in to the soviet.

But this is not the worst. As the protocol of the League of Nations assembly is more carefully examined, indignation has been aroused over its impertinence. Public anger in England has followed this signing away of the independence of the British government which under the protocol may be reviewed by the League. The Evening Standard, of London, advises that Australia, Canada and New Zealand withdraw at once from the league. The MacDonald government has favored the protocol. But it will hardly be supported in this if one may judge by the temper of the papers and the expressions by those who make up the balance of power in Britain.

MacDonald will face a rising tide, which, culminating in a general election, may bring a new party government into power in the British parliament.

According to Mr. Darrow, what we need is not

THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT

XII.—The Geological Survey.

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Among the most adventurous and romantic of the peace-time tales of Uncle Sam is that enacted through the Geological Survey. Here he becomes a prospector for minerals with a pick on his shoulder and a wealth of scientific lore in his mind. He "sears mountain and desert seeking gold deposits which will stir" his currency and adorn his arts, the ore of iron to build his railroads, the copper with which to equip his electrical machinery, and the countless other minerals on which American industry rests. The survey aids in locating the natural riches of the surface of the land and what lies beneath it. It is alert constantly to find new treasures and vigor to conserve those already discovered.

Geology is the science of the composition of the earth, and this branch of the government is charged with the duty of exploring and safeguarding that section of it which belongs to the American people. Schooled in the story the ages have written in the rocks and sands and waters, the experts are able to determine, with a high percentage of accuracy, what manner of minerals are likely to be found in a given territory. It is known that if rock formations of a certain geological age lie in one section, in that section also is likely to be a board of gold. If sands of a known type are found in another place, that place is fairly certain to harbor petroleum. So with iron ore, copper, silver, zinc, lead, potash, phosphates, and all the long list of precious and valuable metals and minerals.

The survey explores every wilderness and charts every settled expanse. By providing this scientific guidance it saves the commercial prospector from aimlessly blundering about and leaving largely to chance the finding of the underground treasures which will add to the nation's riches.

The survey's headquarters is in the department of the interior building at Washington, but its most fascinating work is done in the field. Constant parties are out in the wide spaces of the west and elsewhere on American territory, prosecuting their never-ending search. Their boats are familiar to the lords of seal and the Rocky Mountain goats see them traversing the passes of the highest ranges. Careless of hardship and danger, these surveying parties range the national domain and scarcely a day passes that some valuable information is not added to the store of knowledge about what the country holds. A series of reports, emanating from the Washington headquarters, announced the discoveries made to the public and on these miners and prospectors base their own exploring activities. These data enable them to narrow down their searches and millions of dollars have been saved to the American people by this guidance.

Among the notable discoveries are those of petroleum deposits, especially in the great Mid-Continent Field. Survey parties have discovered pools and whole fields of petroleum which the private prospectors and wildcatters had missed.

When word gets out of the discovery of a new oil region a great rush starts. In the old days there was a great amount of speculation and some shrewd practices. By hook or crook the oil men sought to get possession of the oil lands. Now the oil lands leading oil is in effect and the taking up of oil leases is a much more orderly process, but no less romantic and exciting. When an oil field is discovered on the public domain, the Department of the Interior arranges an auction of the lease rights. The oil men congregate at a given place and date to submit bids. They offer a large initial bonus for the right to drill. The successful bidder then must pay a royalty to the government on the amount of oil produced. Some times royalties are paid in cash, sometimes in oil. If in oil, a large portion is used for the United States Navy. There are entire reservations of oil lands set aside to insure a future supply of fuel oil and gasoline for the navy.

By MARGARET WILSON
(Copyright Harper & Bro.)

He husked the corn on a Wednesday, and on Thursday they were to have a great lark. They were to go to town together. On the first time he had been around of late he claimed to sell, which ought to bring at least ten dollars—Willy he had caught almost without effort as he husked his corn. Everything was ready. For one day they would put aside all their miseries, and be happy together. The work of husking seemed to be a second Indian summer, bland days for riding across the country. And there was that spring-ready ready for Christy's comfort. Moreover, she was to have a new coat. Willy had wanted to get her one the fall before, but she had said she did not need it, and claimed that they had to buy for their horses that they really couldn't afford the coat. She still protested that she really didn't need it. But Willy was the more determined because he suspected she wore her mother's old wrap for the principle of the thing. As if she needed to act like it, he wouldn't have.

The store in which they found the right coat finally was narrow and dark and full of dull necessities, mittens and milk-crocks, grinn boots, and grinner tobacco. Willy hated the clerk the moment he saw him upon Christy's coat that narrowed excessively. Nevertheless, the cotton man brought out from some dark recess behind the main room the very garment they were searching for.

"Put this on," he urged familiarly. She put it on. It was green thinning, bright green was almost black, and rich-looking, short in front, and falling, mantle-wise, well down over her skirts behind. It had rich fringe on it, and intricate frogs for fastenings. Willy would have fastened the clerk, and buttoned it for her, but his fingers were worn and calloused in such a taste. So the man did it, standing as near her as he dared. But when she stood forth arrayed, Willy's annoyance was forgotten. He heaved a sigh of satisfaction.

He saw again with surprise how garments change women. She was scarcely the same being who had

LESSON NO. 5

LIGHTING THE LIVING ROOM.

The living room is usually not only the largest room in the house, but it is also the room that is most used. In most homes it serves as the sitting room, the parlor, the library and the music room.

Because we do so many different things in this room, we need lighting that can be changed and varied to suit our purposes. For example, if we wish to entertain our friends by dancing or playing cards, we should be able to light the whole room with plenty of soft, cheerful light; if we wish to read or sew, we should be able to have the light come over our shoulder from behind a favorite chair; if we wish to play the piano or sing, we should be able to have the light all times the right way, so that the lighting effect should be pleasant and attractive.

To get these effects, we need three different kinds of lighting equipment in the room. First we have a fixture hung from the ceiling with which we can flood the room with light; then we have table lamps and floor lamps which are portable and fixtures should be used.

There are several kinds of fixtures which will provide good lighting in the living room. Some of these are shown in the Home Lighting Primer on page 22. Some are shown in the next picture.

The bulbs in these fixtures vary in number, and the total wattage necessary for good lighting is from 100 to 250 watts.

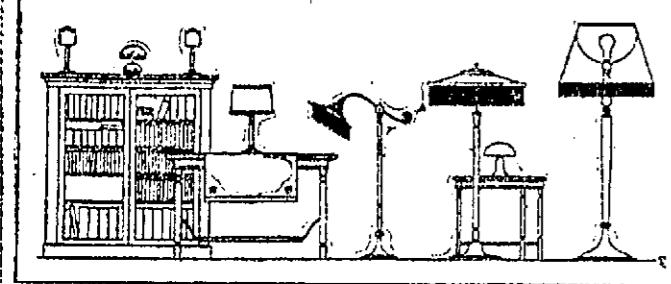

The shades may be of glass, silk or parchment. They should completely hide the bulb and should be dense enough so that the whole surface of the shade is evenly lighted.

A single shade in the center of the room means that the shade is not dense enough, and that some glare is present.

The use of all frosted bulbs will often do away with shadows or glare which would otherwise be cast on the ceiling.

PORTABLE LAMPS

Portable lamps include floor lamps, table lamps and small pedestal lamps, candlesticks, torcheres, etc., for mantel and bookcase. The best can be moved about as furniture is rearranged, to give a good reading light. Finally, we may have bracket fixtures on the walls, which give us charming spots of colored light—never too bright and only used to add attractive decoration to our other lighting.

Bulbs are known by the amount of electricity it takes to light them. The unit by which they are classified is the "Watt," and bills for electric lighting current are rendered in terms of a "kilowatt-hour," which is one thousand watts for one hour, or one hundred watts for ten hours.

portable lamps have shades which are deep enough to hide the bulbs and dense enough to prevent glare. These are shown in the picture at the bottom of page 22. Some are built to send more light up toward the ceiling as well as down toward the table or floor. These use large bulbs and are designed to provide general lighting by reflection from the ceiling or wall.

Portable lamps from which more is required than merely decoration will need bulbs which have a total of 50 to 100-watts or more; in the interests of economy, those which are

Goslin Brings Tie: City Loop Snaps Marks

Copyright 1920, by Geo. McManus.

There are still two games to be played in the world series—at least two games, for the series was tied again on Tuesday by that "fighting bunch of tools," the Washington Senators. That's the way it stands now, that's the definition of the Nationals. The series, so far has been a heated contest between a machine, bought and paid for, with John McGraw at the throttle, and a gang of spirited athletes in the uniforms of the Senators. If the fadom of the United States has any power with us, nothing for Washington to do other than hang its head in the national capital will win. The master mind of the "Little Napoleon" has something different to overcome this year. That something is the all-fired punch that has been developed in the American league pennant winners by "Buckey" Harris, and Washington has just dropped a corker in the infold, brought on by world series inexperience, the girls ought to take the series. They have a better pitching staff and they have a better spirit.

AND THERE is another angle. It came up in Tuesday's game when Goslin got his home run into the right field seats. The Giant boys broke all the rules at Cooper's Bluff on the Harlem and cheered lustily for Washington. Think of it, those mutts of Manhattan deserting their club and boosting for the visiting team! Never before has such a thing been heard of in New York. Of course, the fans followed to the ball in Brooklyn would be yelling for Washington, but for the home town fans to turn against their team, Wow, but the Giants have lost out!

NEW YORK may be metropolitan, but its sport fans never have deserted the boys before. Evidently, that is settled antagonism. Now, that is mixed up in the latest round of the national game. It took a defeat to bring it out, and it will be interesting to follow it up and see the outcome. The teams play again Wednesday in New York. If Tuesday's outburst was merely that of enthusiasm for the winner, the crowd may be on the shouting for New York today. If the crowd for Washington was resentful for the so-called robbery attempt of Dolan and O'Connell, Washington will be the heartfelt favorite even of little old Gotham.

Zev and Mad Play leave New York for big running race at Latonia Saturday, in which Epsilon, French Horse, is entered.

TOT OFF THE GRIDIRON

The eyes of the western conference are upon Ohio State and Iowa, grooving for their meeting Saturday at Iowa City, where title hopes of both may be ousted or blotted temporarily at least—it is the second conference appearance for the Buckeyes since the first was defeated. The work and night practice is the edict of Coach Bert Ingberman at the Hawkeye camp while the Buckeyes battle the reserves, dressing up Iowa formations—Ohio hopes to add to its record given a start by 7 to 0 victory over Purdue last week. Chicago, getting in shape for Louisiana in an important sectional battle, are trying all combinations and play likely to obtain gains on scores on their formidable opponents—inter-sectional interest also follows Michigan, leaving all its cards in play, and the Ann Arborites to be agents of the navy. With its veterans augmented by worthy recruits the hopes of its supporters are running high for a victory over the midshipmen—Northwestern plans to flash a variety of new plays on the University of Michigan, who are back in this week-end—Edmunds, fleet halfback, and Rahr, a lineman, are back in uniform after being counted out on a faculty ban and Charles Smith former Iowa guard, is out for practice. —Wisconsin's toe is back in practice for the Coee team, and Wisconsin's promising candidate for center, has recovered from injuries which kept him out last week—Michigan is drilling for a passing attack which may figure in the clash with the Michigan Aggies at LaSalle—Purdue plans to use many new schemes and strategies against Rose Poly and Illinois expect to get a goodly number under fire against Butler—Some shifts in Minnesota's backfield indicate line-up changes when Gophers engage the Haskell Indians—The nearness of the Army game influences practice in the schools, which opens on Walsh Saturday—Principles of interference and other fundamentals are being stressed by Coach Knute Rockne.

Ran Johnson says the dollar is hurting baseball and takes another crack at Carl Landis.

France George, greatest Italian bike rider, enters Chicago six day race.

Giant Rally Halted by Marberry

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

New York—"Bucky" Harris, boy manager of the Senators, and John McGraw, veteran pilot of the Giants, met Wednesday in the fifth of their seven round bout for the world's series championship.

The first four sessions developed into a battle of rights and lefts with the margin favoring south paw swings. Tuesday Harris tied the fight by taking the fourth round, 7-4, the widest margin of the struggle. George Mogridge, lefthanded pitcher and Goose Goslin, righthanded batter, jabbed the Giants silly. Wednesday McGraw reverts to his southpaw tactics and wants to use his right hand. The latter, however, hand permits. Otherwise, the New York hurler will be Bentley or Watson. Harris will utilize the right hand punch which won the pennant for his team, Walter Johnson, veteran of 18 years.

Meanwhile, the public is enjoying the baseball battle of the century, Tuesday, 49,243, the largest paid attendance ever at a Polo grounds game, cheering for the Senators.

Think of it, those mutts of Manhattan deserting their club and boosting for the visiting team! Never before has such a thing been heard of in New York.

Or, course, the fans followed to the ball in Brooklyn would be yelling for Washington, but for the home town fans to turn against their team, Wow, but the Giants have lost out!

$24,819.38. Each Giant will draw about $6,731 by winning or $3,821 by losing. The winning Senator figures would be about $7,477 and the losing $4,219.

Roger Peckinpaugh, Senator shortstop, did not play Tuesday because of a Charley-horse and will not be used Wednesday unless the injury improves beyond expectations. Blougo replaced him and Miller was at third. The absence of "Peek" weakened the impenetrable field until the far corner resembled a slop. In the first inning, it looked as though the Giants had completely shot its bolt and was done. Mogridge walked two. Bluego errored and the Giants were off with a run.

Then, as Zachury, another left-handed slow curve vet, had done Sunday, Mogridge stood the Giants on their heads. He allowed only three hits in seven innings. George Kelly tallied the only Giant run. Miller pitched well, but Ross Young, Giant right fielder, watched it sour into the stands for a home run.

Goslin creates action.

The lower three of the Senator batting order was powerless, but whenever Goslin appeared there was action. In the fifth, McNeely, who with Bluego, came to life with three hits, singled and Harris duplicated. The former scored on a wild pitch, and Goslin drew a hit. Carl Jackson departed. Baldwin was yanked for a pinch hitter after two innings, and Wayland Dean was pitching when Goslin came up in the eighth. Dean, known for his "home run ball," was throwing his "single ball."

Goslin and Judge hit singles, advanced on Meuse's wild throw and scored on Bluego's third hit. Dean threw the "single ball" and saved the game impressively.

Boggsbridge, like all lefthanders in this series, weakened in the late stages. Two stoners by Harris saved him in the seventh, but in the eighth he walked to one and gave Wilson two balls before Harris signed for Marberry, world's champion relief pitcher, who checked the rampaging Giants for the second time in the series.

Wilson poked a double to left to score, and after Marberry struck his man and retired the side. In the last he permitted the Giants to stage the usual ninth inning rally of the losing team, but after one run had been scored and with two Giants on the sacks, the big pitcher made the equally big Kelly whiff imploringly.

Saints and Orioles Resume, Thursday

St. Paul—Arriving here Wednesday from Baltimore, the baseball team of St. Paul and Baltimore had a day of rest in prospect before resuming their junior world's series at Lexington Park, Thursday.

The champions of the International League have, thus far, one game margin over the Saints, the American association title winners, with five victories needed to clinch the minor league championship.

St. Paul still is casting about for a shortstop to replace the injured Doug Jones, who left the team at Pittsburgh when it was found injured in Baltimore in practicing would prevent him from playing in remaining games of the series.

A shortstop from one of the other association teams will be recruited.

Wilson poked a double to left to score, and after Marberry struck his man and retired the side. In the last he permitted the Giants to stage the usual ninth inning rally of the losing team, but after one run had been scored and with two Giants on the sacks, the big pitcher made the equally big Kelly whiff imploringly.

The democratic vote is relatively small, however, and before the election of the new governor, Mr. McDaniel, a radical who is supporting President Coolidge more or less personally, may capture the lead.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL ORDERED TO PAY HEAVY BACK TAXES

Ottawa, Ill.—In a decision handed down in the circuit court here today by Judge S. H. Lewis, it was decided the Illinois Central railroad should pay into the state treasury hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes in controversy for the last 16 years. It held that many millions of dollars were credited in accounting to lines of the company which, under state laws, were to pay seven percent taxes on earnings to Illinois in preference for early land grants in right of way.

Menus Tax Cut.

The case was one of the most important in the history of the state judiciary and Judge Stough's decision, if applied throughout the state in determining taxation, was said to mean tax payments to the state that might be impossible material reduction in amounts to be ruled by general taxation.

The opinion was over a hundred pages long, the revenues and accounting of the railroad company for the years of 1905 and 1906 being the direct issue, the years intervening since that time being subject to the limitations of the court as applicable to those two years.

Some of the findings were favorable to the contentions of railroad company but the court sustained the state contentions by which charter lines would be credited with the same proportionate earning per mile as other lines of the company are credited.

System Is Upheld.

The court further resolved in favor of the state the system of accounting on what was termed the Cairo and Dubuque arbitrations involving millions of dollars in earnings on which the company contend no excessive taxes were due as they appeared before the audiences.

This story was buried Tuesday when the professor obtained a divorce from Judge Harry A. Lewis in the superior court. His former wife has been living with the man she left him since she moved at an undisclosed address in Evanston.

To friends and neighbors of the two, the court records state they have been known as man and wife.

During the proceedings Dr. Hall-Quest had his attorney, John A. MacLean, read the court records, the name of the other man. In addition, the professor made every possible effort to keep the proceedings from becoming public.

With audity on the stage becoming nearer and nearer reality, the police finally led Earl Carroll, owner and producer of the Vanities, 1921, the new burlesque of three paintings exhibited in front of his theater, portraying three of the show's most undressed girls just as they appeared before the audiences.

(By Associated Press)

Madison — A second appeal for contributions in the drive for relief of tornado stricken areas in Northern Wisconsin, was made today by Governor Frank E. Blaine, who urged the public to contribute by Ernest N. Warner, Madison, that a second relief conference will be held at Medford next Saturday, Oct. 11.

"After a personal visit to the tornado stricken districts by the statewide committee for tornado relief, I am satisfied that the contribution decision that not less than $30,000 is necessary to help out the absolute needs of the people of the stricken areas," the governor said.

"In scores of instances, there is great privation and distress. The people of the area are dependent in great measure upon assistance in obtaining the absolute necessities of life principally clothing, household furnishings and shelter. had been read by City Clerk-Treasurer A. J. Olsen, Commissioner Atwood said the president's action had come as a great surprise to him.

"I assure you I appreciate this more than I can tell you," said President Jensen in commenting on the resolution. "This is something I did not expect. The least I can say is that it is more than gratifying."

City Manager Henry Traxler put the Atwood resolution at the request of Mr. Jensen and it was adopted.

Those present at the meeting, held at 5:30 p.m., were President Jensen, Commissioners Boyd C. Gardner, William McCue and C. S. Atwood; City Manager Henry Traxler; City Attorney George G. Cunningham; and City Clerk-Treasurer A. J. Olsen.

After accepting the resignation, there was a short discussion of the telephone rate increase petition and City Attorney Cunningham urged the members of the council to attend the hearing to be held before the railroad commission in the city hall here at 9 a.m. next Thursday, Oct. 16.

No action was taken toward electing a successor to Mr. Jensen.

Jensen Is Silent.

Asked for a statement after the meeting, President Jensen indicated that he would have nothing further to say in regard to his resignation.

From other sources it was learned that the controversy which had its climax in Mr. Jensen's resignation was the direct result of threats to carry on extensive litigation in regard to the 1924 paving program.

Whether or not the city would win in the case in the end, it is understood Mr. Jensen did not want to be strangled in a wire and possibly lose his job. Incidentally, caused the paving contractor, Mr. Birdsell, when he could bring an end to the controversy by simply stepping out of public office.
